

Subject: Important Update About HealthSource OB/GYN Services

Dear HealthSource Patient,

We are writing to share an important update regarding HealthSource OB/GYN services.

HealthSource is excited to partner with UC Health, the region's premier academic healthcare provider, to expand and strengthen obstetrical, gynecologic, and women's health services.

As part of the partnership, HealthSource of Ohio will transition labor and delivery services to the University of Cincinnati health system, with deliveries beginning this spring at UC West Chester Hospital. Prior to the transition date (which is still to be determined), patients will continue to deliver at Mercy Anderson and receive prenatal and routine OB/GYN care from their HealthSource providers at our Anderson, Batavia, and Mt. Orab locations.

This more integrated partnership will allow us to expand our current collaboration with UC Health clinicians for higher-level specialty services such as maternal-fetal medicine, and to further coordinate advanced care when needed—always with the goal of improving outcomes for women in our communities.

There is no immediate change to your care or your provider. You will continue to receive care from the same trusted HealthSource OB/GYN team you know.

We are committed to a smooth and thoughtful transition and will share additional information as it becomes available.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to reach out to your OB/GYN care team.

Thank you for trusting HealthSource with your care.

Sincerely,
HealthSource
